TripActions Selected by HEINEKEN for Global Travel Program To Power Safe Return To Travel

Brewer focuses on duty of care and sustainability efforts in return to travel

LONDON, 13 May, 2021 —TripActions, the leading, cloud-based travel and spend management platform, today announced that it has been selected by HEINEKEN, the world's most international brewer, as of 1 May, 2021, to manage the Netherlands-based company's return to travel. This adds to TripActions' roster of recent enterprise wins and growing momentum in Europe.

Led by the Heineken® brand, HEINEKEN, which has a portfolio of more than 300 international, regional, local and specialty beers and ciders, is committed to innovation, long-term brand investment, disciplined sales execution and focused cost management.

At HEINEKEN their employees are their most valued asset. TripActions was chosen because of its focus on the traveler experience, duty of care and forward thinking technology. HEINEKEN recognized the alignment between the two organizations' shared vision of the future of business travel and digital innovation.

Following an extensive process, TripActions was selected by HEINEKEN because of its modernized, global and traveler-centric approach, full 360-degree traveler visibility, a portfolio of sustainability tools, and access to global inventory.

"Travel technology is more critical than ever before — both to ensure a safe and seamless experience for the business traveler and to deliver the essential duty of care that businesses require," said Chris Vik, SVP of Sales in EMEA at TripActions. "We look forward to partnering with HEINEKEN and providing a unique user experience, as well as high-end service, through our innovative technology."

Recent examples of such innovative technology include TripActions' Return to Travel feature suite, which offers businesses and their travelers real-time data and industry-leading tools like a live traveler map and a digital health passport. New features also include sustainability-focused granular emissions reporting and carbon budgeting functionalities, making TripActions' user-first, consumer-grade product offering the best fit for HEINEKEN's values.

Additionally, TripActions' in-house support agents, distributed around the world, will support HEINEKEN's geographic footprint. With 24/7/365 service over chat, email, and phone from multiple offices and in local languages, TripActions' global support capabilities proved essential to serve HEINEKEN's international points of sale around the world.

"As restrictions start to ease, we are delighted to be partnering with HEINEKEN to help restart their travel program so that employees can travel again and experience the consumer grade UX that has modernized, global enterprise travel solutions," said TripActions co-founder and CEO Ariel Cohen.
