

Navan Unveils 'Navan Anywhere' to Let Users Book Travel Across Platforms via AI Agents, Starting with Gemini Enterprise

June 9, 2026

New collaboration with Google Cloud brings Navan AI travel agents into employees' workflows

PALO ALTO, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jun. 9, 2026-- Navan (NASDAQ: NAVN), the global AI-powered business travel and expense platform, today unveiled Navan Anywhere, an initiative to enable Navan customers to book wherever and however they want without friction by embedding Navan directly into the tools that employees already use every day. As the first step in this rollout, Navan's AI travel agents are now live on the Google Cloud Marketplace and fully embedded within Gemini Enterprise. Users can now seamlessly plan, book, and manage their travel with Navan directly through Gemini Enterprise.

This collaboration with Google Cloud marks the first integration of Navan's strategy to embed AI agents in third-party platforms, enabling customers to access Navan within their own tools and interfaces. By utilizing a headless architecture, Navan Anywhere brings Navan's entire trusted ecosystem, including its massive inventory of flights and hotels, policy controls, AI agents, and smart expense automation, directly into employees' everyday internal workflows.

"A core value we tap into every day is that it's all about the users, all of the time," said Dane Molter, SVP, Navan Group Travel Marketplace. "That means delivering the best experience and being available anywhere users want to book without friction. Embedding Navan into Gemini Enterprise is a major first step in our strategy to bring the magic of Navan anywhere and everywhere."

Looking ahead, Navan plans to expand the footprint of Navan Anywhere, with rollout of seamless access across additional corporate platforms and third-party user interfaces later this year. The benefits to users are less hassle, no app switching, and a fast way to access Navan.
